10th Annual 2007 Oklahoma SCAUG Conference

SCAUG is a membership organization of GIS professionals using or associated with ESRI products. This regional user group serves members in Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. This chapter is the fastest growing and past conferences have drawn attendees from across the region.

This year’s conference will feature training, informative sessions, poster exhibitions, and a vendor exhibit hall. The 2007 OKSCAUG Conference will draw the largest number of individuals involved in or interested in GIS in the State. The Oklahoma SCAUG Conference has been a mainstay in the Oklahoma GIS community every year! We’ve had 14 vendors the last three years, and this year we have room for 25 in the new Moore Norman Technology Center—Penn Campus Conference Center! Our main hall will hold 15 and the rotunda and central corridor will accommodate the additional booths. Register early in order to ensure your display will be in the main hall. Vendors will get an exceptional opportunity to meet with Oklahoma GIS professionals and key decision makers. We’re continuing to attract as many participants and vendors as the SCAUG Regional Conference, so get your registration completed in advance to ensure your company will be represented at Oklahoma’s premier GIS conference!

Conference Attendees will be looking for innovative, cost-effective ways to implement GIS into their organization.

Attendees will include GIS and senior level managers, analysts, developers and technicians from federal, tribal, state, regional and local governments as well as private industry. Participants will be the people in Oklahoma that need your company’s products and services.

Join the Oklahoma Chapter of the South Central Arc User Group in Oklahoma City on October 9th to share your knowledge, services, products, and ideas with the state’s most receptive audience.
